In the estimation of those fellows who believe in holding on to Cuba "the average Cuban is very low" and the above average isn't very high.

With 25,000 idle men in the town of Dawson, and the freezing season setting in, we may soon expect to hear some remarks about short rations.

The seas and the rivers give up their dead, but it is said that Lake Superior never does. When a person is drowned in that lake he or she goes to the bottom and remains there.

Admiral Sampson is not as big a man as he was. Aside from that dispatch and his report of the destruction of Cervera's fleet his weight has been reduced from 170 to 130 pounds.

For the benefit of the people who insist that we should hold the Philippines it may be incidentally remarked that we have never taken any of them, not even Manila, which was temporarily turned over to us by agreement with Spain.

A newspaper account of an accident on the Pacific road, to a train on which Vice President Daniel Lamont was travelling, says that when he saw that his car was going to be smashed he walked into another car. Dan always did have the reputation of being somewhat sensible, and it may be inferred from this that he is not hankering to furnish the newspapers with a premature obituary.

In a speech delivered at Warsaw last Friday, Mr. John E. Fowler was bitter in his denunciation of the Democratic party. Mr. Fowler is the Populist candidate for Congress in the Third District, and he is very much incensed against the Democrats because they declined to "co-operate" with him and thus "make his election sure." It is interesting to observe that Mr. Fowler has no abuse for Republicans.

At the present rate it will not take the Klondike bubble long to burst. The $20,000,000 of gold that was looked for some time ago has dwindled down in the estimates to $6,000,000, and may go as low as $4,000,000. This would hardly pay the fares and travelling expenses of the gold seekers.

The question of Americanizing Porto Rico will be no puzzle. The Porto Ricans are just hankering to be Americanized, as, for instance, the Alcalde of Yacua, who when he saw the stars and stripes proceeded to head his official documents Yacua, United States of America.

Mark Hanna was opposed to the war but when our boys knocked the persimmons down he was in for grabbing all we can and holding on. As a grabber there is nothing slow about Marcus,

A St. Louis paper calls Aguinaldo a Judas. That paper is poaching on the Ohio Republican preserves. The Ohio papers had a pre-emption claim on that Judas vocabulary.

The boss chunk of gold was dug up in West Australia recently, which weighed 1,636 ounces and is worth $32,500. They don't often pick up pieces as large as that.

Jim Corbett says he is travelling on his merits. Before he got that Fitz solar plexus knockout he travelled on his muscle and his jaw.

THE COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

Board Met Yesterday to Hear Complaints and Equalize Tax Valuations—The Standard-Keeper Trouble.

According to previous announcement in the STAR, there was a meeting of the Board of County Commissioners yesterday at 2.30 P. M., for the purpose of hearing complaints and equalizing tax valuations. It was only in cases where there has been an increase by improvement or a decrease by fire or otherwise.

Quite a number of people misunderstood the power of the Board and made application for reduction in cases where the Board had no authority to act. Commissioners present were Chairman Roger Moore and Commissioners Alexander, Barry, Boatwright and Cowan.

The first matter to engage the attention of the Board was a request for the release of Mrs. J. B. Mercer from double tax. This and a request from Mr. Sam'l Bear, Jr., for a reduction in the valuation of some property in South Wilmington, were referred to the County Attorney for investigation, as was also a similar request from Mrs. E. Lilly.

The valuation of a lot in block 224, owned by J. E. Taylor, was changed from $700 to $650.

The tax-listers were instructed to change the assessment so as to give each owner, Messrs. Yopp and Sellers, a $500 valuation on certain property in question.

A petition from Polly Larkins, asking that she be allowed to list her taxes free of charge, was granted.

A communication from Mr. Samuel Bear, Sr., was read. It claimed that June 1st when taxes were given in only about $300 worth of work had been done on his new cottage on Ocean View beach. He therefore protested against the $1,200 valuation which has been put upon it. The Board ordered that the valuation for the present year be made $500 and $1,200 thereafter.

The Board took up the matter of assessing stock in the National Bank of Wilmington and the Atlantic National Bank. The stock of the former was assessed at $100, and that of the latter at $130. The stock of the Wilmington Savings and Trust Company was assessed at $50 per share.

Commissioner Boatwright reported that his committee had investigated the matter as to the standard keeper and found that the standard keeper was misusing the weights and measures and other county property in his custody, contrary to law. The city attorney was instructed to see Mr. W. J. Harris, the standard keeper, and effect the removal of the property to the court house, where it is provided by law that it should be kept.

The only other matter which came up for action was also of a general character. It was the voting of an allowance of $2.00 per month to Mrs. Fannie Farrow.

There being no further business the Board adjourned.

THE PYTHIAN HOSPITAL.

A Noble Work Undertaken by Chattanooga Pythians.

Many of the soldiers who are fighting Uncle Sam's battles on land and sea are members of the Pythian order. And as Pythian soldiers have no immunity from sickness, the Knights in Chattanooga, Tenn., headed by Supreme Representative Dr. E. B. Wise, have opened a hospital for the accommodation of such of their brothers as may become ill while in camp at Chickamauga Park. The military hospitals are ably providing for the sick, but the Pythian hospital will have superior advantages on account of its location away from camp and the noise incident upon camp life.

The site of the hospital was well chosen and the medical staff is composed of prominent physicians, all of them knights. The management has petitioned the lodges in the State for financial aid, and would be pleased to receive assistance from members of the order throughout the supreme domain, as the amount of good accomplished will depend largely upon the voluntary offerings made by brother knights.

Visitors From Portsmouth.

Mr. Stanley G. Fowler and his party will leave for home this afternoon at 3.20. They were met by Mr. F. L. Huggins upon their return from Wrightsville beach at 12.15 P. M., who drove them down the turnpike where photographer Seidell got in some of his work. In the afternoon the party went down to Carolina Beach when more photographs—of the Oceanic Hotel, the bathers, and other scenes—were taken. Mr. James H. Chadbourn, Jr., the president of the Chamber of Commerce, will look after the comfort of the visitors to-day.

About a Stalk of Cotton.

Mr. Z. W. Whitehead, editor of the Southern Milling and Lumber Journal, has returned from a trip through South Carolina in the interest of his paper. A prominent lumber dealer whom he met was Mr. E. G. Mallard, of Greeleyville, S. C. Mr. Mallard is a planter as well as a lumberman, and showed Mr. Whitehead a stalk of cotton which surpasses anything of the kind that the latter remembers to have seen. It had 191 bolls, blooms and forms.

Lumberton Fair.

The annual Fair of the Robeson County Fair Association will be held at Lumberton October 26th, 27th and 28th. All space for exhibits free.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

Accurate Census of Houses in the City Ordered — Action on Important Resolution Deferred.

There was a meeting of the City Board of Health yesterday. Present, Mayor Wright, Dr. Thomas, Dr. Russell and Dr. McMillan. The weekly report of the superintendent of health was accepted, and the following order adopted:

That the health officers of the city be instructed to make an accurate census of the houses in the city according to the following plan: The officers to have districts accurately defined, so that the enumeration of houses shall not be duplicated. The census is to cover all the houses which are in the district of each officer and must be made by streets and named by numbers, with owner and occupant if obtainable.

The report must state for each house whether it is provided with water closets. Also the source of the water supply, whether cistern, driven well, open well, spring or public water supply.

The last matter considered was a communication from the Board of Health of the city of Augusta, Ga. Action upon its recommendations was postponed until some future meeting.

The communication is in the form of a resolution protesting against the landing of United States soldiers in Southern ports and then transporting them overland to points North. Provision is made for strong influences to be brought to bear upon the War Department to prevent such a practice. The resolution sets forth the fact that if the troops are brought overland through the South it may be the means of spreading an epidemic.

He was, however, reared at Edenton, though for many years past he has been a resident of Pittsburgh, Pa.

City subscribers are earnestly requested to report promptly at the STAR office every failure of the carriers to deliver their papers. In all such cases steps will be taken to insure promp and regular delivery.

MAYOR'S COURT YESTERDAY.

Fines Imposed on Two Soldiers—Several Other Cases Tried and Others Continued Until To-day.

Mayor Wright had eleven cases on his docket yesterday at noon. Of that number four were continued until to-day. Two of those tried were against soldiers from Fort Caswell. Readers of the STAR will remember that they were arrested Saturday, one for disorderly conduct and the other for interfering with and resisting an officer. The disorderly soldier was fined $5 and the other one $20. They paid their fines late yesterday afternoon and were turned loose. In the meantime they were allowed to sit in the police headquarters instead of being locked in the city prison.

Other cases disposed of were Thomas Taylor, colored, drunk and disorderly, submitted and paid the costs; John Watson, colored, disorderly conduct, $2 and costs.

Of the cases continued until to-day George Armstrong is charged with carrying a concealed weapon and acting suspiciously; Hellen Swinson, colored, is charged with keeping a disorderly house, and Lizzie Carrol and Josie Johnson, both colored, with being inmates of a disorderly house.

OFFERED TO BRIBE A JUSTICE.

'Squire McGowan Came Near Committing a Syrian to Jail for Contempt.

A notable case was tried before 'Squire McGowan yesterday, in which Syrians were both prosecutors and defendants. The case was against Abda Shilby and the charge was disorderly conduct. Previously Shilby's wife had been convicted of disorderly conduct and made to pay the costs. What made the case before 'Squire McGowan especially notable was that Justice McGowan says F. Gidions, the principal prosecutor took, him to one side and offered to bribe him by paying him money if he would convict Abda Shilby and tax him with costs in the case. After the bribe was offered Justice McGowan declared the prosecution malicious and taxed Gidion with the costs. In fact, he started to write an order for the commitment of Gidion to jail for contempt of court, but was dissauded,

The offence charged against Abda Shilby was cursing. The evidence seems to have been that a quarrel arose between F. Gidion and Abda Shilby's wife about the latter's peddling on Ocean View beach. Gidion claimed to have paid a license of $25 for the right to peddle on the beach and objected to the woman's intruding.

During the racket Abda Shilby took a hand, called Gidion a "Shamot," which is said to be a vile epethet in the Syrean language. It was for this that the warrant was issued at the instance of Gidion.

MORE ROCK FOR THE FORT.

Mt. Airy Granite Will Begin to Come in Again.

It is learned on good authority that the hauling of rock over the C. F. & Y. V. Railroad, which has been suspended for the last few weeks, will be resumed shortly. After completing the emplacements for the twelve-inch rifles, the government will build a number of mortar batteries for which large quantities of rock will be needed. The Mt. Airy Granite Company will furnish the rock as usual. It will be transported down the river by contract it is thought now, instead of by the government boats and scows.

Major Butler of the First Regiment.

Major George Butler, of the First Regiment of North Carolina Volunteers, now stationed at Camp Cuba Libre, was here yesterday, returning to camp after a ten days furlough spent at his home in Clinton. He said he had no idea that the First Regiment would be disbanded even though the war is over. His regiment he thought would be taken to Havana to do garrison duty.

A Fire Sunday Morning.

There was a telephone alarm of fire received at the Chemical engine house Sunday morning at 10.20 o'clock. The fire was at No. 201 South Fourth street. DE LUNATICO INQUIRENDO.

The Observer Sincerely Believes the Governor is a Lunatic.

[Charlotte Observer.]

The statement in yesterday morning's Raleigh correspondence, credited to Democratic State Chairman Simmons, that the impeachment of Governor Russell by the next Legislature "is a certainty," is startling; and it is added that this does not appear to be dependent upon either party, Republicans being as anxious for it as Democrats. Certainly a Legislature could do nothing more to its credit than to relieve the executive office of this wrong-headed, passionate, dreadful man, and forever disqualify him from voting and holding office. We sincerely believe he is a lunatic.

FAIR ELECTIONS.

"A free ballot and a fair count" is one of the stereotyped frauds of the Republican machine managers in this State, and has been taken up and echoed by the Populist machine managers. It is a fraudulent cry, for neither the Republican machine managers nor the Populist machine managers are honest in it or care a continental for a free ballot and a fair count provided they win.

They talk about a free ballot and a fair count in the North, too, but every one at all familiar with the conduct of elections in this country knows that the Republican machine managers have been and are notoriously corrupt, and that they hesitate at no deviltry to carry an election when it is deemed necessary to resort to deviltry. They buy the votes of the venal without the slightest scruples, and buy them openly in some States where the selling of votes is an ordinary occurrence, and where public sentiment has become somewhat callous to the shame. In all the elections that were ever held in this country from the first President to the present time there never was one that approximated in unfairness and in undisguised corruption and rascality the last one managed by that prince of crooked methods, Mark Hanna. If there had been a free ballot and a fair count in the true sense, Wm. J. Bryan would now be President of the United States and Wm. McKinley would be pursuing his customary avocation in the city of Canton. It is mockery to talk of a free ballot and a fair count when the ballot of the honest voter is nullified by the ballot of the purchased voter, for the man who sells his vote is not voting for himself but casting a ballot for another man, who thus casts ballots in proportion to the amount of money he has put in the pockets of venal voters. And thus they cast many thousands of votes for the candidates of the Republican party in the last Presidential election.

The Republican machine managers in North Carolina did not need any instruction. They caught on early for they had expert tutors in the political adventurers from the North from whom they took their first lessons and soon became adepts in deviltry. They had splendid material to work with, too, and the decided advantage of knowing the most of their material by its color. The caught the newly-made voters fresh from the plantations when they hardly knew the difference between a ballot and a barn door, and they worked them as no ballot-wielders were ever worked before in this Republic. They worked them by lying, by deception, by fraud, by corruption, by intimidation and by social and race ostracism, the last two being especially potent.

They thought the time might come when the negroes might do some thinking for themselves, might see through their trickery, get tired of their leadership, break away from them, and do some independent voting. They guarded against this by organizing secret oath-bound societies into which negroes were taken and sworn to vote the Republican ticket. They taught them that every man with negro blood in him who voted against the Republican party was a traitor to his race, and an enemy to it. So well did they succeed in this that the negro who voted the Democratic ticket did it at the peril of his life and it has happened that when sometimes a few of them would break away and vote the Democratic ticket they had to be protected by Democrats from insult and violence, and this in places where the negroes did not constitute the majority of voters. They have been voters for more than thirty years and yet that kind of intimidation is practiced today. The negro who votes an anti-Republican ticket does it at the risk of proscription, insult and violence.

But the managers resorted to the refinement of deviltry by enlisting the women as aids to control the votes of the men who might show an independent or restive disposition. The negroes are naturally fond of society. The young men are naturally fond of the society of young women. To be socially ostracized is about equivalent with them to being locked up in jail. Isolation to a negro, especially a young negro, may possibly be a little preferable to death, but not much, and that was and no doubt still is, the foredoomed fate of the negro guilty of the offence of voting an anti-Republican ticket.

It isn't easy for a stranger to understand why the negro women take such a lively interest in our elections, concerning which, of course they know even less than the men do, but if the stranger knew how the Republican managers in the past and those in the present make use of these women to control the men he would understand it very easily.

But they didn't stop with this for they entered the churches, and made them assistant agencies to carry elections for the Republican party, so that it sometimes happens that the churches, at least some of them, discuss politics about as much as they do religion when campaigns warm up.

Under these circumstances he is a nervy negro who undertakes to do his own thinking, if able to think, and break away from the white and black bosses who run the Republican machine.

We all know that there never was an election in North Carolina which approached in bold-faced villany, the last State election as managed by A. E. Holton and Co. There never was as much money corruptly used in an election nor as many colonized negroes from other States, although that has been a common practice with the Republican election managers in this State. And yet they have the monumental cheek to talk about honest elections, untampered suffrage, a free ballot and a fair count, when all their methods are directed to preventing an honest election and a free ballot and a fair count, which in view of their methods is a burlesque and a fraud.

A STRAIGHT BLACK TICKET.

Some time ago we referred to the fact that the negroes in Montgomery county, incensed at the refusal of the white machine managers to divide the county offices with them, had called a convention for the purpose of putting a straight negro ticket in the field. That convention met at Troy, the county seat, July 29th, nominated a full ticket and adopted a series of whereases and resolutions giving the reasons why, which we find published in The Pine Leaf of August 11th.

The whereases are seven in number, the first of which cites the fact that the colored voters of Montgomery county have been loyal to the Republican party since given the right of suffrage; second that they have repeatedly voted to elect the Republican ticket, always composed entirely of white men; third that no election has ever been held in the county when the Republican ticket could have been elected without negro votes; fourth, that they have frequently sought representation on the ticket which was dependent on them for success; fifth, that the white Republicans have absolutely refused to recognize their claims, or support any ticket on which a colored man was placed; sixth, that they are by birth and the constitution of State and Nation legal citizens of Montgomery county; seventh, that their rights as full fledged citizens not having been respected by the white voters who claim to be Republicans, they adopt five resolutions, the first of which reads thus:

"Be it Resolved: 1, That we, the Colored voters of Montgomery county shall recognise and support a ticket composed entirely of representatives of our own race, not that we desire to repudiate the abiding principles that are fostered by the Republicans of the State and Nation, but we do openly repudiate all the so-called Republicans who declare that they will not support a ticket that has upon it a representative of the Colored race."

The second heartily endorses the administration of President McKinley.

The third commends the action of Governor Russell in "permitting" the organization of a colored regifor the war with Spain, the only colored regiment in the United States officered by colored men.

The fourth endorses the course of Senator Pritchard and recognizes him as the leader of the Republican party in North Carolina.

The fifth endorses the proceedings of the Republican State Convention held at Raleigh.

The marrow of all these, however, is in the first resolution, which we publish in full. While commending Governor Russell for "permitting" the organization of a negro regiment officered by negroes they sat down on him by lauding Pritchard as "the leader of the Republican party" when they knew that Governor Russell didn't have any more use for Pritchard than he has for an egg-sucking dog. The warm endorsement of the action of the Republican State Convention was doubtless inspired by that racy (in several senses) speech of Congressman White (black) in which he gave his white Republican friends to understand that he was going to invite the race issue and that those of them who didn't like it could take to the woods.

Taking the preamble and resolutions as a whole they show how the colored brother is aspiring and showing his aggressiveness even in rural Montgomery county where they are few and far between compared with some other counties in the State.

CALLED DOWN.

The North Carolina State Alliance has called on John R. Smith to come down from the position as Commissioner of Agriculture, into which he was thrust by Governor Russell after he had demonstrated his incompetency and unfitness for the position of superintendent of convicts.

Of course John R. Smith has no idea of complying with this request or demand, for he is not thinking half as much of the estimation in which he is held by the farmers of the State as he is of the emoluments of the job which Governor Russell gave him when he wanted to get him out of the penitentiary and had to make a berth for him somewhere.

If Governor Russell had the slightest respect for the farmers he would never have placed Smith in the Agricultural Department after the ugly record he had made as penitentiary superintendent, and if Smith had the respect for himself that he should have had he wouldn't have permitted himself to be bounced around in that way, and forced to swap a $2,500 job for an $1,800 one. But it is said that there was an understanding that the difference in salary was to be made good by some slight-of-hand performance that the public couldn't see through.

He will not come down, of course, unless "something equally as good" can be found for him, and that something isn't in sight; so that the Alliance will have to content itself with thus putting on record its opinion of the discredited ex-penitentiary official that Governor Russell thrust upon the farmers of the State.

MINOR MENTION.

The large reduction in the death rate, from 103 per day to 37 in Santiago, since the establishment of sanitary regulations by General Wood, shows what may be done in the way of improving the sanitary condition of Cuba, where one of the principal causes of disease and mortality has been the disregard of the laws of health, which permitted the accumulation of the filth of ages in soil but poorly drained and dependent almost entirely on the summer rains for surface cleansing. In cities like Santiago and Havana the soil has become saturated with offensive matter, and the result is polluted water if it be taken from the earth. Thus the harbors which are shallow and where there is but little tide-flow have become the receptacles of the inwashed garbage and filth of centuries, which even the salt of the ocean cannot neutralize, and hence care is taken in navigating vessels in these harbors to disturb the reeking mass at the bottom as little as possible. It will take time to remedy these conditions, but it will be done, and we venture to believe that before many years, under modern sanitation, the so-called pest cities of Cuba will be as free from fatal epidemics as our Gulf cities have been made, or as the cities in Porto Rico are.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtain, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement, that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefitted from first dose. She continued its use and after taking six bottles, found herself sound and well; now does her own housework, and is as well as she ever was.—Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at R. R. BELLAMY'S Drug Store. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00. †

About one month ago my child, which is fifteen months old, had an attack of diarrhœa, accompanied by vomiting. I gave it such remedies as are usually given in such cases, but as nothing gave relief we sent for a physician, and it was under his care for a week. At this time the child had been sick for about ten days, and was having about twenty-five operations of the bowels every twelve hours, and we were convinced that unless it soon obtained relief it would not live. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy was recommended, and I decided to try it. I soon noticed a change for the better; by its continued use a complete cure was brought about, and it is now perfectly healthy.—C. L. BOGGS, Stumptown, Gilmer county, W. Va. For sale by R. R. BELLAMY, druggist. †

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

— Greensboro Record: John Greeson, a colored man living near Pomona, was killed Friday night at 9.20 o'clock by engine No. 158 of the Southern Railway near the end of the south switch, not a great distance from Pomona. A flagman on the engine said he deliberately walked up on the tract not more than a car length from the engine when it was moving and of course it was impossible to stop.

— Greensboro Telegram: Capt. S. C. Dodson received a telegram Saturday from Jacksonville announcing the sad death of Chase Adams of the "Queen City Guards," now in the First regiment at that place. The telegram was from Corporal Adams' father, Mr. Peter H. Adams, and requested Captain Dodson to make preparations for his son's funeral and burial. He will be buried in Green Hill cemetery.

— Lenoir Topic: A Miss Hoyle, in the Rippetoe neighborhood, attempted to commit suicide on Thursday of last week by taking laudanum. She took two ounces of the drug and threw the bottle away so that her folks might not know what she had done, thus hoping that she might not be prevented from her purpose of "slipping off this mortal coil." Dr. D. W. Griffin was called in and succeeded in bringing her around all right. Despondency, brought about by some misunderstanding with her lover, was the cause.

— Concord Times: Last Thursday Miss Effie Misenheimer, of Mount Pleasant, came out to visit her sister, Mrs. M. L. Buchanan. In less than an hour after her arrival she missed $55 from her pocket book. A colored girl, Meta Miller, who stayed at Sheriff Buchanan's, was suspected, but bitterly denied taking the money. Some time later $30 of the money was found loose in Miss Misenheimer's valise. The colored girl was told that she must get the balance of the money, and when she supposed no one was looking got the other $25 from behind the grate. The girl's father, Paul Miller, gave her a good thrashing.

— Asheboro Courier: W. J. Baldwin, of White House, raised 160 bushels of oats on three and one-third acres of land. There were only three and one-third bushels of oats sowed. Mr. Baldwin raised over 500 bushels of wheat and oats this year. —— A negro named Joe Scott entered the residence of Mr. S. W. Swaim at Randleman on Wednesday night of last week and stole $30, a watch and some clothes. The negro came to Asheboro and exhibited a 20 dollar bill in payment for a pistol which he purchased at Lassiter's Hardware store. He loaned L. W. Allred at Randleman six dollars. The thief was caught at High Point and after having a preliminary trial at Randleman was lodged in jail here on last Friday. Seventeen dollars of the money was recovered. The negro confessed the crime on the trial.

REVENGE OF PIZEN GULCH.

It Was Two Weeks Late, but When It Came No Apaches Were Left.

"The man who said that 'the only good Indian was a dead Indian' was erbout as near right as men get," remarked Colonel Ham Sploggett of Arizona the other evening as he wrestled with a mint smash, "and if any man oughter know what he's talking erbout in them matters I guess it's me. I went to Arizony a mighty long time ago. Them darned Apaches wuz erbout as onery as eny sort of Indians, and not a day passed but what we fellers down to Pizen Gulch heard erbout men losing their scalps and women and children being butchered like forty, the news coming from way out on the frontier. I wuz sorter getting a grip on Arizony jass then, and I didn't want to lose it, so I jess staid away from the line and tended ter business with one eye open. We had ter get out and hustle, however. Indians wuz getting more rampageous every day, and finally a band of the measly, murdering robbers rid inter a small settlement erbout 50 miles from the Gulch and killed every soul thar, not leaving one to tell the tale. This riled the boys at the Gulch, and we thought the time had come to do something. Two hours after we got the news we wuz out for biz. We rode away, and an hour afore sundown we reached the place whar the settlement had been. Waal, sir, I've seen many odd sights in my life, but that little settlement wuz erbout the saddest thing that ever met these old eyes not so old then neither. Ashes showed whar some cabins had stood, and thar, too, could be seed what remained of home things, and jess on the outskirts of the settlement we found the bodies of the folks what had formed the peaceful village.

"Men, women and children alike had gone to satisfy the awful greed for blood. They had been dragged together, and the bodies—must have been erbout 20 of them—wuz piled in a terrible heap, mutilated and horrible to look at. The saddest sight of it all wuz the form of a little baby. The small critter wuz lying on the breast of a woman, maybe its mother, and its little fists wuz fastened in the long hair that wuz all tangled and flowinglike. At fust I thought it wuz sleeping, but it wuzn't. It wuz dead, and a little round, black hole right in the middle of its forehead showed whar the bullet had done its work. Thar it wuz, a monument of Indian ferocity, and the poor little limbs of the baby wuz cuddled up and its white face wuz smiling jest as though death had caught it while it wuz looking right inter its mother's eyes. The sight of that little one thar, naked to the skies, made the grim look on the faces of the boys jess kinder deepen-like until they seemed desperate and deadly. We left the place without a word, but when we crept up on the band what did the work we paid them back to the death, even if it wuz two weeks later. Them wuz bad days, I tell you.—Mexico Two Republics.

There is no reason why the left hand of the amateur should not be as well trained, so far as the training goes, as that of the artist. It should from the first start be compelled to obey the emotions, the intellect and the will. A great deal of time is wasted in the pianist's musical education by practicing as much with the stronger hand as with the weaker, precisely as it is wasted by practicing as much with the stronger as with the weaker fingers. In both cases the stronger continually increases in strength, while the gap between this and the weaker does not lessen.

Trashy piano music, with thin harmonies, gives the lion's share of what effort it necessitates to the right hand, while of the left is required but a feeble thrumming. All good, well written music, whether difficult or easy, makes equal demands on both hands. The faithful teacher should see to it that the student does such music justice by training the left hand to equal skill with the right. Where an instinctive preference is shown for the left the right must be the more carefully drilled, but in this instance, as has been shown, the student is at a certain advantage.—Harper's Bazar.

The Miller of Gheel.

You have heard the story of the miller of Gheel? He is represented as a kind of Belgian "Wise Man of Gotham." He set up two windmills in the same lot, and he reflected that there would not be wind enough in one lot for two windmills, and so he had one of the mills removed.—Hezekiah Butterworth in Harper's Magazine.

Too Expensive.

London Merchant—Do you pension the clerks who grow gray in your service?

Chicago Dealer—Nope; couldn't. The way we do business, that happens every few days.—Brooklyn Life.

A Clever Scheme.

First Bicycle Crank—No, I never carry an extra ounce of weight on my machine—not even a tool bag.

Second Ditto—But suppose you break down on the road and have no tools?

First B. C.—Oh, that's easily arranged! I carry my tools in my pocket.—Nuggets.

Why Tess Was Made to Die.

The influence of surroundings and environment over the well being of people of the artistic temperament is well known, and so, too, is their effect on the imagination.

A remarkable instance of this is furnished by a case of Mr. Thomas Hardy, who always makes a point of visiting and even living in the places which he describes in his novels, so as to be sure of the accuracy of the local color.

In speaking of "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," that novel which has had such success in spite of its sad ending, he recently said to a friend, 'If it hadn't been such a dreadful day when I visited Stonehenge, it is probable that I shouldn't have decided Tess must die."

That decision once made was irrevocable, although, while the story was appearing in serial form, Mr. Hardy received dozens of letters from interested correspondents who foresaw the trend of fate and who begged him in spite of it to make the story end happily.—Strand Magazine.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying Electric Bitters; and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made decided improvement. I continued their use for several weeks, and am now a well man. I know they aved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cts. per bottle at R. R. BELLAMY'S Drug Store. †

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, August 15.—The cotton market opened steady, with prices showing a loss of three to seven points on lower Liverpool cables, local speculators selling and further small liquidation by tired holders. The weakness was also due to more unfavorable weather conditions in the cotton belt. Another weak feature was a report that Neill had a bearish crop report on hand. Selling was only checked by the low prices at which good cotton was already selling and a belief that a large short interest already exists. During the afternoon the market ruled dull and steady, with no new features of special importance, and the trading was entirely local. The final tone was easy, with prices showing a net loss of nine to eleven points.

RAISED THE COOK'S WAGES.

For He Had to Preserve His Wife's Confidence In His Capabieness.

There is nothing in all the world that I admire so much as a really capable man. A friend of mine has married one, and I am quite sure he can do all that does become a man and a few other things that are not entirely becoming. He and his wife—somehow one always thinks of them in that order—moved into a new house. The upper floor was to be left uncarpeted and was to be oiled. The wife suggested having a man from the furniture store to do it, but the capable man scoffed at the idea; oiling a floor was just as easy as rolling off a log. He'd attend to it himself. The wife went out of town for a few days, and one afternoon the capable man came home early with a can of prepared oil finish and a brush. He went up stairs and whistled gayly. When the cook went up later, the hall was a neatly oiled desert, with a narrowing unoiled oasis in the middle. The capable man was in the oasis. There were sundry spots on the new wall paper, but the capable man said they'd dry off. The cook went down stairs, and presently there was a loud noise, a sliding noise and a falling noise from up stairs, together with a savage yell and some remarks that even cooks don't care to repeat. The wife came home a few days afterward. The husband met her at the station. He was wearing brand new trousers. The wife ascended to the upper hall. It was neatly carpeted with a new carpet and the walls had a new paper dado.

"Why!" she exclaimed. "I thought you were going to oil it."

"I decided that a bare floor would be noisy," answered the capable man. "It always looks cheap."

"And the dado?" answered the wife.

"Wasn't it a good idea?" answered the capable man. "It gives the hall such an air, you know."

The cook has had her wages raised, but then a man must preserve his wife's confidence at any price, you know.—Washington Post.

HER TITIAN HAIR.

In warm soft waves of gold and brown,
Above her forehead saintly fair,
Ripples in sweet abandon down
Her Titian hair.

Methinks that little head of hers
A Tuscan artist well might dare,
And worthy of a better verse
Her Titian hair.

Were I a painter I would frame
For coming time one canvas rare,
On which should glow above my name
Her Titian hair.

Or better name and fame to miss
Than find their semblance otherwhere.
Were I her lover I would kiss
Her Titian hair.

—Abbie F. Judd in Time and the Hour.

IRVING AND BOOTH.

The English Actor's Generous Treatment of the American.

In The Century there is an article on "Edwin Booth In London," by E. H. House. In speaking of Irving's action in appearing with Booth at the Lyceum Mr. House says:

Looking at all the possibilities of the case, I hold to the opinion now, as I did then, that Irving risked more than people supposed—more, it may be, than he himself took into full reckoning. I will not further enlarge upon what might have happened to his disadvantage. As to his hope of gain, what was it? He could win approval for extending a consoling hand to a distinguished brother actor and helping him to recover some of the equanimity he had lost through untoward circumstances, he could commend himself to the good will of the American public and set up a particular claim to its cordiality in case he should visit the United States, and he could identify himself and his establishment with a Shakespearean representation of uncommon nearness to perfection. I do not see that there was anything else to his side of the account. He certainly was not so weak as to imagine he would outshine Booth and add to his own reputation at the other's expense. Pecuniary benefit was out of the question. The profits of the combination could not be larger than those of the regular Lyceum performances at ordinary prices.

There might be a certain pleasure in "taking the chances" of so novel an enterprise. But Irving was not the sort of man to whom the excitement of a gambling operation would be especially alluring. There is no evidence that he was moved by a single unworthy impulse. Though a trip to America may have been in his mind, it does not follow that he was sordidly influenced by expectations of a material recompense for his hospitality. I doubt indeed if he could have formed any conception in advance of the acknowledgment in store for him. Few Englishmen can understand without convincing testimony how intensely responsive to a generosity the American people are. Charles Reade knew it by intuition, as he seemed to know many other things which he had never learned by experience. Irving's knowledge came later.

If he was actuated by selfishness of any kind, it was on behalf of his theater, to maintain the supremacy of which was always one of his dearest objects. An actor who is also a manager may care as much for the character of the productions at his house as for the personal elevation. Booth had once been thus inspired and had lost a fortune because he was more ambitious for the beautiful edifice he had created than for himself. To have it recorded that the most brilliant Shakespearean illustration of the day had been given under his auspices and within his own walls was doubtless worth more to Irving than any calculation of present or future remuneration—more probably than any renown he could hope to win by the impersonation of Iago, which he was preparing with diligent study.

One Honest Husband.

A society man, middle aged and handsome, who was married not so long ago, was asked by his wife why he had allowed himself to become 38 years old before he centered his affections upon any woman long enough to marry her.

"Well," he answered reluctantly, "it was this way: No man was ever so susceptible as I am. My whole family was kept on the alert to prevent my marriage before I was 18. I simply fell heels over head in love with every girl I met.

"My father grew tired of circumventing my matrimonial tendencies and put me out on the road. My territory covered the whole western continent. Two consecutive days were never permitted to pass without my receiving a telegram to move on.

"I never suspected but that I was doing an enormous business, and insisted at intervals on having my salary raised. I would no sooner get on friendly terms with a lady than along would come that notice to keep going. At last I tired of the endless chase, insisted on becoming stationary for a time and came here to run a branch establishment. You know, dear, that we were engaged in two weeks."

"And was it more than a dozen girls that you were in love with before you met me?"

"Hundreds of them."

"What a good thing I didn't know!"—St. Louis Republic.

Echoes of "After the Ball."

There is one man in the United States who has a device stamped on his letter paper for which he is not beholden to any musty ancestor, a device which will doubtless be emblazoned on his coat of arms if we ever set up a college of heraldry. His name is Harris and he lives in Milwaukee. You will know what Harris I mean when I say that he has stamped on the left hand corner of his letter paper a ball, in bright red, with a frantic little goblin, also red, running after it as hard as he can. "After the Ball" is the motto, and the man who writes on the paper is the Charles Harris who wrote the song of that name, a song which has made him such a fortune that nowadays he doesn't sell his songs to publishers, but has a music publishing house all his own, from which he issues only his own compositions. The device is decidedly decorative and will look well on a coat of arms.—Washington Post.

GALLANT GORDONS.

THE FAMOUS FIGHTING BATTALION OF THE BRITISH ARMY.

The Part Played In Recruiting by a Beautiful Duchess—Some Brilliant Battle Deeds Recalled by the Taking of Malakand Pass.

For centuries the name of Gordon has been associated with gallantry and strife. From the time of the fierce border feuds when

The Gordons gude in English blue
They dipped their hose and shoon,

the claymore of the Gordon has not rusted in its scabbard.

The origin of the Gordons is lost in the haze of unreliable history, but certain it is that one family of the "gay and gallant Gordons," emigrating from the borders, obtained a grant of territory in Aberdeenshire, afterward created into a dukedom. Then followed an important date in military history, the year 1794, when the Duke of Gordon, principally through the efforts of his mother, the duchess, raised the Gordon highlanders—now the Second battalion—a regiment which has added so much luster to the glory of British arms. Dressed in a striking highland bonnet the beautiful duchess rode through the lands of her retainers, calling on and coaxing the young men to rally round the Gordon banner. She attended the county fairs, and, placing a shilling between her lips, invited the "gallants" to advance. Consequently a regiment over a thousand strong paraded in the castle gate of Aberdeen one June day in 1794. Named the Gordon highlanders and numbered 100, this regiment was afterward known as the Ninety-second and nowadays as the Second battalion.

Passing through London, where they were inspected by King George, the Gordon highlanders created the greatest admiration and curiosity. In the same year they moved to Gibraltar, where they were presented with their colors in 1794. Four years afterward saw them in Ireland, and, having quelled the rebellion there, they proceeded to Holland, as the Dutch found to their cost in a few days. Swooping down on the lines of Egmont-op-Zee, they routed the stubborn Dutchmen at the point of the bayonet. This fiercely contested victory is a unique one in military history, for the battle was fought bayonet versus bayonet.

Next we find the Gordons covering themselves with glory on the bloody field of Mandora, in Egypt, under Sir Ralph Abercrombie, and for their prowess the sphinx was added to their colors, with the superscription, "Egypt." After Trafalgar the Gordons appeared in London, where they attended the funeral of Nelson. Passing by their short service in Denmark, we come to the peninsular war—a war closely identified with the heroic deeds of the Ninety-second. From beginning to end of this fearful struggle the Gordons bore a leading part, over and over again calling forth high praise from the Duke of Wellington. Without taking into account the comparatively minor battles in which the Gordons constantly distinguished themselves by brilliant charging, the roll of fame is large enough indeed, for on the colors are the well known names of the peninsular battles. Foremost comes Corunna, where Sir John Moore was carried off the field by six Gordon highlanders. To this day the officers of the regiment wear black cord round the collars of their tunics in memory of that fatal field.

Following these is Waterloo. Before the Gordons took part in this historic battle they fought well and bravely at Quatre Bras, where they lost many men, among whom was the gallant Colonel Cameron. At Waterloo the part taken by the Gordons has been immortalized by the picture, "Scotland Forever." The undaunted highlanders, cut down to 200 men by the murderous fire, charged in their old style a French column of more than 2,000 men. As they broke into it the Scots Greys, the famous Scottish cavalry regiment, dashed up to their support. The Gordons, grasping the manes and stirrups of the charging cavalry, were dragged into the midst of their enemies, shouting the cry, "Scotland forever!" By this terrible charge the French column was completely broken up and scattered. To this day the brotherly feeling, commenced on the field of battle, still continues, the Gordons being known in the army as "the Scots Greys' wives." After the peninsula the regiment served in Jamaica, where a monument records the terrible ravages of yellow fever among its ranks. They arrived in the Crimea the day Sevastopol fell, the Russians, as some say, having heard that the Gordons were coming. After this practically no war service was seen by them until the outbreak of the Afghan war of 1878. In this campaign they took part in General Roberts' famous march from Kabul to Kandahar, at both of which places a terrific battle was fought, the Gordons losing many men. In 1881 the Gordons stood their ground on the ill fated Majuba hill, and from this date their career has been merged in that of the gallant Seventy-fifth, now the First battalion of the regiment.

The Seventy-fifth have had a most checkered career. Raised originally in 1787 as the Seventy-fifth Stirlingshire regiment of highlanders, they wore the kilt for 20 years, but owing to the lack of Scottish recruits they reverted to the ordinary dress of the infantry of the line. In 1881, when the short service system came into vogue, the Seventy-fifth once more donned the kilt as the First battalion of the Gordon highlanders, and as such was the first regiment to land in Egypt, taking part in the charge of the highland brigade at Tel-el-Kebir. They served with brilliancy—particularly at El Teb and Tamai—throughout the Sudan campaign and Nile expedition of 1884-5. Moving to Ceylon the Seventy-fifth were soon again in India. They served with distinction in the Chitral campaign, taking the Malakand pass with a brilliant charge, and once more they have proved at Dargai Kotal that a Gordon is as good as—a Gordon.—Black and White.

Delicious Peanut Nougat.

To make peanut nougat, brush square pans lightly with oil and cover the bottoms thickly with shelled peanuts. Put a pound of sugar and a half pint of water into a saucepan. Add as much cream of tartar as you can hold on the point of a knife. Stir until the sugar is dissolved. Wipe down the sides of the pan and allow the sirup to boil carefully until it begins to turn a light straw color. Take it from the fire quickly and sink the bottom of the pan into another of cold water. This is to stop the boiling instantly and prevent the sugar from browning. Pour this carefully over the peanuts and stand it away to harden. One pound of sugar should be quite enough to cover two pounds of peanuts. This candy may be changed by using walnuts, almonds, pecans or mixed nuts.—Mrs. S. T. Rorer in Ladies' Home Journal.

When Women First Voted.

It is not a generally known fact that the first place in this country where women were permitted to vote was at Newark, N. J. This occurred in 1807, and the Philadelphia Times thinks that, if the facts chronicled in Gordon's "History and Chronicles of New Jersey" be true, that experiment would not lead a pessimist to believe in woman's efficacy as an agent to purify the ballot. Here is what he says about that famous event: "An election in 1807, for determining the location of the courthouse, is still remembered by the inhabitants as the most exciting recorded in their annals. The contest was between Newark and Day's Hill. By a construction given to the state constitution, the women were then suffered to vote, and they seem to have been so delighted with this privilege of exercising their wills that they were unwilling to circumscribe it within the legal limit, many ladies voting, we are told, seven or eight times under various disguises."

She Was Too Natural.

At last the young woman who had been haunting the theatrical manager's office was to be given a chance.

"I want you to play the part of a divorcee," explained the manager.

"Oh!" she exclaimed, and there was so much disappointment in her tone that he noticed it.

"What's your objection to it?" he asked.

"Why, to tell you the truth," she answered, "I was in hopes you would give me a part that would require some acting. What's the use of going on the stage just to be natural?"

As might have been surmised from her ambition, she was one of them.—Chicago Post.

FASCINATION OF FOIBLES.

Little Frailties May Make the Possessor of Them More Lovable.

"No man is sincerely and securely loved except by those who know his foibles," says Sir Arthur Helps. Rousseau qualifies his recognition of faults in his old friend Gauffrecourt by the surmise that without them he would probably have been less amiable. In no works is this better exemplified than in those of Charles Dickens. "When I know all the foibles a man has, with little trouble in the discovery, I begin to think he is worth liking." And of Dickens' father, and his notable Micawberisms of speech and demeanor, he declares that no one could know him without liking him the better for them. No one likes Micawber less for his follies, and Dickens liked his father better the more he recalled his whimsical qualities.

One of the notable examples of the fact that foibles may rather endear than estrange is in Oliver Goldsmith. The epithet so often heard and ever in kindly tones of "Poor Goldsmith" speaks volumes. Writing of him, Washington Irving says that when eminent talent is united to spotless virtue we are awed and dazzled into admiration, but our admiration is apt to be cold, while there is something in the harmless infirmities of a good and great but erring nature that pleads touchingly with ours. Irving is persuaded that few who consider the real compound of admirable and whimsical qualities which formed Goldsmith's character would wish to prune away its eccentricities, trim its grotesque luxuriance and clip it down to the decent formalities of rigid virtue.

"Let not his frailties be remembered," said Johnson. "He was a very great man." Washington Irving would rather say, "Let them be remembered, since their chief end was to endear."

Oliver Wendell Holmes asserts that we must have a weak spot in any character before we can love it much. "People that do not laugh or cry or take more of anything than is altogether good for them or use any but dictionary words may be admirable subjects for biographies. But we don't always care most for those flat pattern flowers that press best in the herbarium."

The most nonexacting and most indulgent cannot perhaps fail to find some faults in the nearest and best friends. But in not a few cases foibles are even the strengtheners of regard.—Exchange.

A Great Smoke.

A gentleman well known in turf circles made a curious wager in the year 1860, in which he backed himself to smoke one pound weight of strong foreign regalias within 12 hours. The conditions were that the cigars should be smoked one at a time to within an inch of the end, the backer of time, as in the case of some pigeon matches, finding the weeds.

The match was decided on a Thames steamer plying between London and Chelsea, the smoker taking up a position well forward in the bows, where he caught the force of all the breeze that was blowing. The cigars ran 100 to the pound, so that about eight an hour had to be consumed to win the wager. A start was made at 10 o'clock in the morning, and the affair was finished shortly after 7 in the evening.

In the course of 9 hours and 20 minutes 86 cigars were fairly smoked, the greatest number consumed being in the second hour, when the smoker disposed of no fewer than 16. At the eighty-sixth cigar, when 14 only remained to be smoked, the backer of time gave in, finding that the smoker was certain to win, and the latter puffed the remainder away at his leisure in the course of the same evening.—Strand Magazine.

Sleeplessness.

Sleeplessness brought about by nervous excitement, mental strain or overwork can be cured by a harmless home remedy, which anybody can easily test. Simply take a moist towel, fold it up and place it across the neck. For sleeplessness of nervous people who suffer from cold feet while the head is hot there is no better remedy than to rub the legs, and particularly the feet, briskly with a brush or a rough towel. This will benefit the circulation, and a sort of tired feeling is the result which soon produces sleep. Drugs cannot be used successfully for either of these forms of sleeplessness, while the local application of water will almost unexceptionally give immediate relief.—Philadelphia Ledger.

London Streets.

If any one were to undertake to walk, one way only, through all the streets of London, he would be obliged to go a distance of 2,600 miles, or as far as it is across the American continent from New York to San Francisco. This will give an idea of the distance one will have to go to see thoroughly even the greater part of the city of London—the largest city in the world.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.,

H. E. Thompson, Providential, N. C.:

DEAR SIR:—A month ago you sent me a box of the Jackson Springs Water—twelve bottles. You know how fearfully I was suffering with an acute bladder trouble some weeks before. When I reached home I found the water awaiting me. I have rested and drank that water. I am a new man—my old self practically; my appetite restored; and the tenderness in the bladder has disappeared. I think it is a wonderful water. I had been using for weeks before all sorts of lithia water, but the Jackson Springs Water went to the spot.

With profound gratitude, I am,
Yours Respectfully, &c.,

The Morning Star.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

TUESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 16.

THREE MEN WOUNDED.

Fight Between Miners and Non-Union Men at Coal Mines in Illinois.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

PANA, ILL., August 15.—The coal miners' lock-out here reached a climax to-day when a serious shooting affray occurred on the highway, near the city limits, leading to the Springside coal mine. This is the only one of the four large coal mines in Pana that is attempting to do any mining, and but seven non-union miners are working here. The seven go heavily armed to and from the shaft, in addition to being under guard of operators and deputy sheriffs with Winchesters. The union miners have been trying to induce these few non-union miners to cease working at the Springtide mine by congregating on the road and pleading with them as they go to the shafts in buggies driven by operators and deputy sheriffs. To-day several hundred union miners were congregated on the principal highway leading to the mine when Ed. Jones and James Palmer, non-union men, rode up on horseback into the miners lines and without any provocation, it is said, other than the miners asking to talk with them, began firing into the crowd, at the same time retreating as fast as their horses would carry them, but not until they had emptied their revolvers into the miner's ranks. Andrew Toomey had his right hand badly shattered by a ball and Michael Yermacavich was shot in the thigh. One other union miner is alleged to have been seriously wounded. A ball grazed the head of William Baker, another union miner.

The union miners quickly rallied, and headed by Barker with a shot-gun, which he secured at his home near the scene of the shooting, pursued Palmer, the non-unionist, to his home, where he had surrounded himself in his doorway by his female relatives to prevent Baker shooting. Later, Palmer and Jones were arrested and taken to the city jail which is surrounded by several hundred miners and citizens. Excitement is intense.

IN THE FAR EAST.

Great Britain Demands That China Dismiss Li Hung Chang—In Event of Refusal May Seize Port of Pekin.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, August 15.—The foreign office, it is reported here to-day, though the report as yet lacks confirmation, intends to demand that the Chinese Government dismiss Prince Li Hung Chang from power, on the ground that he is responsible for the recent anti-British attitude of the Taung Li Yamen.

The foreign office, it is also asserted, has had under special consideration the question of seizing the Taku forts on the Gulf of Pekin, at the mouth of the Pekin river and the city of Tion Tain, the port of Pekin, in the event of China refusing to comply with this demand, holding all until compliance is assured.

Meanwhile, the semi-official Journal De St. Petersburg, in to-day's issue, deprecates the tone of the British press and says: "Russia does not contemplate further acquisitions in the Far East. Her only object is to preserve the advantages recently gained. The Russian Government does not desire to injure the economic interests of Great Britain any more than those of any other power."

LEAVING SANTIAGO.

Spanish Prisoners Embarking—Great Mortality in Their Camps—U. S. Troops Returning Home.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, Aug. 15, 11:25 A. M.—The Spanish steamer Isla de Luzon sailed this morning for Spain, having on board 2,136 Spanish soldiers. The Isla de Panay will probably sail to-morrow and she will be followed by the P. de Saturgesri. The Montevido arrived this morning and will begin loading at once.

The embarkation of the prisoners is being pushed with great activity. This is rendered imperative by their horrible condition. The mortality is so great in the Spanish camp, where disease is rampant, that no longer are the dead buried. A funeral pile of ten or twelve bodies is made, saturated with kerosene and set on fire, cremating the bodies in the open air.

The transport Breakwater sailed this morning with the Twelfth infantry. The City of Macon will sail this afternoon with the Seventeenth regiment, and the Leona leaves to-morrow with Battery C, of the Fourth artillery, the regiments of the Ninth and Tenth cavalry, the Gatling gun detachments and Col. Parker's two companies of the Thirty-fourth Michigan.

The Clinton has arrived from Tampa with medical supplies and several doctors.

BLANCO RESIGNS.

Does Not Want to Superintend the Evacuation of Cuba.

By Cable to the Morning Star

MADRID, August 15, 6 P. M.—The government has received from Captain General Blanco a dispatch tendering his resignation. The reason given by General Blanco for resigning is that he does not wish to superintend the evacuation of Cuba. The government is also informed that General Augustin, Governor General of the Philippines, will leave Manila for Spain by the first mail steamer, giving his command to the second in rank.

DON CARLOS' INTENTION.

Will Discourage Any Actual Rising of His Supporters in Spain.

LONDON, August 15.—A special dispatch from Lucerne, Switzerland, says the following inspired statement has been made there:

"Notwithstanding his disapproval of the course the government at Madrid is taking, Don Carlos maintains his firm intention to discourage any actual rising in Spain and is using all his influence to quell insurrectionary tendencies and attempted uprisings among and on the part of his too devoted followers.

It Will be Necessary to Maintain an Army of Occupation of About 45,000 Men.

GREAT COMMERCIAL FUTURE.

The Most Difficult Problem to Solve is the First Organization of a Preliminary Form of Government for the Island.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, August 15.—Major General Fitzhugh Lee, in command of the Seventh Army Corps, at Jacksonville, Fla., was in conference to-day with the President and the War Department authorities. He came here on a special telegraphic summons from Secretary Alger and it was with the latter he conferred for an hour with the President.

General Lee's experience as consul general at Havana has given him an intimate knowledge of Cuban conditions which will be availed of by the administration. It is generally expected that he will head the military commission which will adjust the affairs in Cuba, and also he has been strongly urged for the governorship of that island after the function of that commission ceases. On both these points, however, General Lee asserts he knows nothing. He would not speak of the subjects discussed as the result of his hasty trip here, beyond saying he has been talking over matters in Cuba generally. Then he added:

"The first work which will have to be done in Cuba will be to make arrangements by which all the municipal machinery can be put in operation in all the towns and governmental machinery throughout the island for each district. There will have to be a military control, I suppose, until such a time as the people interested can organize and put into operation a government which should be stable and strong enough to impartially protect the interests of Spaniards, Americans, Cubans and the people of all other nationalities now on the island, or who may hereafter go there."

"Is there a probability of Spanish interests suffering through the Cubans?"

"The Spanish property-holders, merchants and all other classes of Spaniards, naturally, would unite with the rest of the conservative inhabitants for the preservation of the interests of all the citizens, and I think they will help the natives and the Americans to maintain

A Strong, Safe Government.

This would be natural, because no class of people would be more interested than they are in maintaining property and all other rights. The most difficult problem to solve is the first organization of a preliminary form of government, as later the island will be very rapidly Americanized and all such questions will take care of themselves. As to the probabilities of the Cubans attaining a stable government, I presume that as soon as possible a proclamation will be issued setting a date for the holding of a general election for a chief executive of the island and for a legislative body, to which all matters affecting the future of the island will be referred. This legislative body probably will adopt a constitution and make the proper laws to put into operation the political form of government.

As to the army of occupation which will be necessary to maintain our position with respect to Cuba, 45,000 men will be ample to garrison the whole island. Of this number possibly 25,000 would be stationed in and about Havana. Mantanzas will be the next most important point for a garrison. Other points should be regulated by the probabilities of disorder that might take place there and the number of troops at the various points will naturally be governed by circumstances.

A Great Commercial Future.

"Properly directed, Cuba will have a great commercial future. Its unbounded and great resources will be very rapidly developed by American push, vigor and capital."

General Lee says he has no plans beyond going back to Jacksonville to resume command of the Seventh Army Corps. He will leave for that point Wednesday.

TRAGEDY IN A COURT ROOM.

An Old Man, Crazed With Rage, Cuts the Throat of the Alleged Seducer of His Daughter.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ATLANTA, GA., Aug. 15.—In Justice Landrum's court to-day William Bain, a white-haired old man of 71 years, cut the throat of James Phillips, aged 30, whom the aged father claims seduced his daughter. Phillip's wound is dangerous and the doctors say he may not recover.

A case of seduction against Phillips by Bain's daughter, Mrs. Mary Scafe, was on trial. As soon as the hearing opened Phillips' attorneys secured a continuance. Phillips was sitting at a window in the court room when Bain started out of the place. As the old man reached his side he suddenly sprang upon Phillips and cut his throat. The knife used was a large one and the blade was as keen as a razor. The cut made reached from the center of the throat to a point almost under the right ear.

Phillips grappled with the old man and attempted to disarm him. Mrs. Scafe cried loudly while the men struggled and begged the court officials to separate them. Bailiffs caught Bain and he was handcuffed. Phillips was bleeding terribly and sank to the floor. A call was sent to the Grady hospital and an ambulance was called. Bain was almost crazed with rage when a patrolman took charge of him. His shirt was covered with the blood of Phillips. At police headquarters he said he was sorry he had not killed Phillips. He disgraced my family, he said, as tears ran down his cheeks, and I did my best to kill him. I wish I had cut his head off.

Bain's daughter is Mrs. Scafe and she resides with her father. She was married when fourteen years old and soon after her husband left her. Scafe left home nine years ago and his wife was told by Scafe's sister, it is said, that he was dead. The law supposes a man dead also who leaves his home and is not heard of in that time, so Mrs. Scafe decided she was free to marry. Phillips, she claims, promised to make her his wife.

AFFAIRS IN THE DEPARTMENTS.

The Reconstruction of Cuba and Porto Rico Receiving Most Earnest Consideration.

ADMIRAL SAMPSON'S FLEET.

A Grand Naval Review of the Ships to Be Held in New York Harbor—Steps Being Taken to Reduce the Force of Naval Militiamen.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, August 15.—The reconstruction of affairs in Cuba, Porto Rico and throughout the Spanish West Indies is receiving earnest consideration in official quarters, and at the White House to-day the President saw a number of prominent callers in connection with this reconstruction in our new insular dependencies. Gen. Fitzhugh Lee spent some time with the President, going over the condition of Cuban affairs. While no announcement was made, the impression prevailed that General Lee would be one of the Cuban military commissioners to be named within a few days. Acting Secretary Allen, of the Navy, also saw the President concerning Cuban affairs. It is probable that an American naval vessel will go to Havana harbor before long, and at least two naval vessels will be ordered to Havana when the military commission assembles there to determine upon the details of Spanish evacuation. Secretary Day also conferred with the President, and later determined, the peace terms being matured, to take a week's vacation. He will leave either to-night or to-morrow morning, going probably to Canton. Assistant Secretary Moore will be acting Secretary of State, during Judge Day's absence. The secretary's retirement from the head of the department is likely to follow soon after his return from Canton, and indeed it may come during his absence, although there was no outward evidence to-day that he was about to close his connection with the State Department affairs.

A Naval Review.

The Navy Department decided during the day to yield as far as practicable to the public desire at New York for a naval review of the ships of Admiral Sampson's fleet. Accordingly Acting Secretary Allen issued the following order:

"The department is much gratified at the desire expressed to see a review of the war ships and cruisers recently ordered home, and so far as practicable is desirous of carrying out the wishes of those citizens who wish to see the ships. But neither the officers nor the men of the fleet are in condition to participate in a street parade. The department is taking the opportunity of the armistice to put these ships at once into the best possible condition for such uses as may hereafter be required of them. It is expected all other work will be suspended and the entire available force of the navy yard directed to this work, in order to secure the greatest possible dispatch.

"The Department will direct, upon arrival in New York harbor, that the fleet will steam up the North river as far as General Grant's tomb, fire a salute, and steam back to the anchorage. It is expected that the fleet will reach New York on Saturday, the 20th instant."

The plan is to have Admiral Sampson met off Sandy Hook with orders for the procession up the North river. It is expected that the fleet will be off Sandy Hook some time Friday night, but will lie outside the harbor until Saturday morning.

The Naval Reserves.

The Navy Department is taking steps to reduce the force of naval militiamen called into service from the several States. The Minneapolis is to transfer part of her crew to the Yosemite, thus releasing the Michigan naval militiamen, who man the Yosemite. The Columbia is also to transfer her crew to the Dixie, and other auxiliary craft, thus allowing the naval militiamen on these auxiliaries to go home. In this way the naval service will speedily be returned into the hands of the regular officers and crews.

SOLDIERS IN SAN FRANCISCO.

A Riot in Which a Negro Narrowly Escaped Lynching—Investigation Being Made.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 15.—Dan Thomas, a negro crab fisherman, was wounded and narrowly escaped lynching at the hands of soldiers to-day. Two men of Troop B, of the regular cavalry, which attempted to quell the riot, were dragged from their horses by the volunteers and slightly injured in the tussle. The negro's house, a block and a half from the presidio, was almost wrecked.

The trouble began in a saloon. Will Davis, a private of Company L, First Tennessee regiment, was drinking in the saloon. Five or six other soldiers from different regiments and the negro, Thomas, were in the place. According to the story told by Davis, the negro approached him and asked for a drink. Davis replied that he had no money, whereupon the negro struck Davis in the right eye with a set of brass knuckles. The two closed in a struggle until they were separated by an Iowa private.

When the negro found himself free he left the saloon and went to his home. Thither he was followed by the soldiers who wrecked the house in an endeavor to get at the man. But for the prompt arrival of Major Cheatham, the negro might have fared much worse. On the way to the guard house at the presido, where Thomas was taken for safe-keeping, the negro was attacked by Private Scruggs, who struck him a terrible blow over the head with a bludgeon. The soldiers were quieted with much difficulty. General Miller is investigating the affair.

All the men engaged in the riot were volunteers. Most of them were Tennesseeans but there were a number also from the Kansas and Iowa regiments.

THE PEACE PROTOCOL.

An Error in the Text of the Document as Cabled from Madrid.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, August 15.—Owing to an error in transmission, article 3, of the full text of the peace protocol as cabled from Madrid was not given with accuracy. The text of this article is really as follows:

"Article 3—The United States will occupy and hold the city, bay and harbor of Manila, pending the conclusion of a treaty of peace, which shall determine the control, disposition and government of the Philippines."

DEWEY BOMBARDED MANILA SATURDAY.

The City Surrendered Unconditionally—Captain General Augustin Escaped.

RESCUED BY THE GERMANS.

And Carried on a Warship to Hong Kong. Proclamation of Peace Had Not Then Reached Manila—Insurgents Displeased With Terms.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

HONG KONG, August 15.—General Augustine, captain general of the Philippines, arrived by the Kaiserin August 15. He refused to be interviewed and will say nothing more than he is going to Spain at the first opportunity. It is a significant fact that while the fastest German cruiser has brought General Augustin, she brings only a small package of mail for the German consul. The consul is now in Canton, and his mail matter remains unopened. The precise facts are not known, but it is supposed that General Augustin fled from the Philippines.

Insurgents Not Satisfied.

HONG KONG, August 15.—The Spanish consul here has not yet sent to Manila the news that the protocol has been signed; and probably the Spaniards at Manila will discredit the account to be brought them by the British steamer Australia, as she was chartered by the Americans.

The opinion here is that the Germans have arranged matters with General Augustin. The insurgents now at Hong Kong are not satisfied with the terms of peace proposed by the Americans.

That Manila Has Fallen is Denied.

LONDON, August 15.—Nothing has been received here to justify a rumor cabled back from the United States, that Manila has fallen and is now in possession of the Americans. The German cruiser Kaiserin Augusta, which arrived at Hong Kong to-day, is the latest vessel out of Manila to report conditions there, and she brings no intimation of a surrender of the city.

Manila Has Fallen.

LONDON, August 15.—The Westminster Gazette says it has received from a London business house, a report that Manila has fallen. The report comes from the firm's Hong Kong agent.

MADRID, August 15, 8:30 P. M.—According to La Correspondencia de Espana, the surrender of Manila occurred after the last attacks made upon the city.

The News Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, August 15.—The Department of State has just issued the following:

The following dispatch was received at the Department of State at 11.15 P. M., August 15, from Consul Wildman, Hong Kong: "Augustin says Dewey bombarded Manila Saturday. City surrendered unconditionally. Augustin was taken by the Germans in a launch to the Kaiserin Augusta and brought to Hong Kong. I credit the report."

MILITARY COMMISSIONERS.

The President Has Practically Determined Upon the Military and Naval Officers for This Duty.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, August 15.—The Post to-morrow will say:

The announcement of the personnel of the military commission for Cuba and Porto Rico may now be expected at any time. The President has practically determined upon the military and naval officers who will compose the commissions. It is probable that the names will be as follows:

Cuban Commission—Major General J. T. Wade, Major General M. C. Butler and Admiral W. T. Sampson.

Porto Rico Commission—Major General John R. Brooke, Major General Theodore Schwan and Admiral Winfield S. Schley.

It will be noticed that the name of General Fitzhugh Lee does not appear in the list of the Cuban commissioners. The omission is not unintentional. General Lee was originally slated for a place on the commission but will not serve owing to his desire to remain at the head of the army corps. It is expected that this corps, the Seventh, will eventually be sent to Cuba, and in that event General Lee will go to the island at its head, preferring this position to a commissionership.

SHAFTER'S TROOPS.

The Last of His Corps Expected to Leave Santiago Thursday.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, August 15.—A cable message was received at the War Department this morning from General Shafter at Santiago de Cuba, saying that he expected that the last of the troops of his corps (5th) will have left Santiago for the United States, by Thursday next and that he, General Shafter, will start for home next Saturday. All that now remains to be transported is the third division, commanded by General Bates. These troops will be embarked as rapidly as the transportation facilities will permit.

FITZ LEE A CANDIDATE.

Announces That He Will Enter the Senatorial Race in Virginia.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, August 15.—The Post to-morrow will say:

General Fitzhugh Lee will enter the Senatorial race in Virginia. This announcement can be made without any qualification. It is authorized by General Lee himself, who last night directed the following statement to a representative of the Post: Upon being asked the question as to his future intentions and appreciating the interest felt in the matter throughout Virginia, General Lee said: "I shall be a candidate for the United States Senate."

INSURGENTS MAY CAUSE TROUBLE.

A Wild Rumor Afloat That the Cuban Army Will Attack Santiago.

IGNORING THE ARMISTICE.

Must be Suppressed With Iron Hand. Conference With Garcia and Other Leaders That May Lead to Settlement of Trouble

By Cable to the Morning Star.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, August 15, 12.25 A. M.—Trouble with the Cubans is brewing. Their attitude is one of sullen hostility toward Americans. The better class in Cuba favor the annexation of the island to the United States and a majority of the masses are ready and anxious to work and accept the shelter and protection afforded by an American protectorate, but they are influenced by a certain class of rabid orators and breeders of sedition and rebellion against anything smacking of law and order.

This inflammatory class demands and urges the recognition of Cuba for Cubans, and spurns all offers or suggestions tending to prosperity under an American protectorate, and excites popular discontent. This is exactly the class that pushes itself most into evidence, and whose views and opinions are most overheard and published.

Their advice to the Cubans is to repudiate all offers of peace or a cessation of hostilities, and to look upon an armistice as an agreement between the United States and on their own account and not binding upon the free and independent state of Cuba, whose liberating army not only repudiates pacification, but will ignore the armistice to the point of continuing to wage war and shooting every Spaniard in the field.

A Wild Rumor

is afloat to the effect that the Cuban army will attack Santiago and capture it, to the glory of the Cuban arms, as soon as the American garrison is weakened. This is directly traceable to the above-mentioned source. The influence exerted by such a body of men against law and order is formidable. This historical people demands suppression with an iron hand. While still in embryo, this influence is already felt among certain classes who refuse to work or serve the government until a clear statement of the freedom and independence of their country is made clear.

A knowledge of this condition is imperative to the moulding of future policy and to explain whatever harsh steps may be rendered necessary in dealing with the insurgents.

Shafter's Sick Report.

WASHINGTON, August 15.—General Shafter's report of the health condition of his troops at Santiago as bulletined at the War Department to-night, is as follows:

"Sanitary report for August 14th: Total number sick, 2,715; total number fever cases, 1,506; total number new cases, 129; number fever cases returned to duty, 226."

The number of deaths reported for August, 11th, 12th and 13th is 22.

Customs Revenues.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, August 15.—The official report submitted to General Shafter by Collector of the Port Donaldson, shows the customs revenues from July 30th to August 13th to be $64,215, an excellent showing for the first fortnight of American administration.

Miss Clara Barton of the Red Cross Society to-day cabled President McKinley requesting that a vessel be given her at once for the purpose of taking relief supplies to the starving Cubans in Havana, where, according to reports, want and distress prevail. It is expected that a vessel will be placed at the service of the Red Cross Society immediately, as there is an abundant stock of supplies here, only awaiting means of trrnsportation.

Arrangements to Quiet Insurgents.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, August 15, 11 P. M.—A secret meeting was held to night at the Palace between the commanding officers of the American army and the Cuban leaders. The strictest secrecy was maintained, but it can be said on good authority that Gen. Garcia was present.

The meeting lasted an hour and a half. The information obtained is to the effect that the Cuban situation was thoroughly reviewed, and that it was resolved to disband the Cuban army and that the United States should pay the men off. This involves the expenditure of $15,000,000, but it is most important to the prosperity of the island, whose wealth is entirely agricultural; nobody, planter or farmer, daring to cultivate his lands while the insurgent bands are in the field raiding and burning.

FIGHTING IN PORTO RICO.

Schwan's Column Attacked—Spaniards Repulsed—Their Commander Wounded—Americans Suffered No Loss.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

PONCE, PORTO RICO, August 15, morning.—General Schwan's column was attacked yesterday between Mayaguez and Lares. As the Eleventh infantry, under Colonel Burke, was descending the valley of the Rio Grande, they were fired upon from a hill side by a force of fifteen hundred Spaniards who were retreating toward the north. The fire was returned and the Spaniards were repulsed with, it is believed, considerable loss.

Colonel Soto, the commander of the Mayaguez district, was wounded and was afterward overtaken in a wayside cottage. He was attended by two sergeants, who surrendered. The Americans suffered no loss. The artillery and cavalry were not engaged.

General Schwan had not received news of the signing of the protocol when the action occurred, but obtained it yesterday afternoon. The reports from General Miles are meagre.

Peace Proclaimed.

GUAYAMA, PORTO RICO, August 15.—General Brooke sent Col. Richardson to the Spanish lines yesterday, under a flag of truce with a notification of the signing of the peace protocol. He was met by the commandant in person. After the communication had been read felicitations and cigars were exchanged.

Flags of truce are flying over our outposts. It was suggested that they be also planted over the Spanish lines, and the suggestion was accepted.

CONDITIONS AT SANTIAGO.

Gen. Shafter Reports the Death Rate Not Alarming But is Increasing—Supplies Are Abundant.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, August 15.—Secretary Alger to-day received the following letter from General Shafter, which is in part as follows:

"Headquarters Fifth Army Corps, Santiago de Cuba, August 4, 1898.—Hon. R. A. Alger, Secretary of War, Washington, D. C.—My Dear General: Your kind letter of July 25th was handed me yesterday by Major Sniffen. I thank you and the President for the confidence you express in my ability to handle the matters entrusted to me here.

"The number taken ill in my camp is very great, as you will see, though not much greater than those returned to duty; and the death rate is not at present alarming, although it is steadily on the increase, and the doctors tell me that the fever, malarial and otherwise, is constantly presenting more virulent features. Every effort possible is made to guard ships bringing supplies to the army, but it is almost impossible to enforce it, when ships must be unloaded and men necessarily must come together in discharging and receiving cargo. The great trouble is that the people themselves seem to have no fear of infection, and, unless you have a guard over every individual man, it is almost impossible to keep them from mingling.

"The Silver Question"

has settled itself, and American silver is received the same as American paper. The soldiers, I believe, have nearly all been accounted for. Not a single man was captured, and the only men now missing are those who were killed in the thick brush and whose bodies have never been found. The country has been scoured faithfully for bodies. This was done a short time after the battle.

"The camps now occupied are measurably good. They certainly are on the best ground in the vicinity, and slight changes of location can be made. The difficulty in separating camps of an army of this size is on account of the great difficulty of supplying them with the necessary food, especially during the wet season, when half a dozen wagons over a road cut it into ruts two feet deep in places. Pack trains are very good, and we have to use them and do use them; in fact, without them we could not get along; but the sickness among the teamsters and packers has been very great—nearly every one of them, I suppose 95 per cent.—have been sick, and, like the soldiers, they do not recover their strength.

"Supplies are abundant here of all articles of food and clothing.

Sympathy for McKinley.

"I cannot fully express my gratitude to you for all the opportunities that you have given me and for the confidence that you repose in me, as shown more strongly than in any other way by leaving me unhampered in my operations against Santiago. I am very sorry to see that some newspapers are attempting to throw blame of your trying to run the campaign from Washington, and I suppose some people believe it. It is one of the things, however, that I don't suppose we can help, although whenever I have had an opportunity I have tried to make it plain that I have been left to my own devices.

"I am sincerely yours,
"WILLIAM R. SHAFTER."

TORNADO IN MINNESOTA.

Seven or More People Killed—Buildings Destroyed and Crops Greatly Damaged.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., August 15.—A Canby, Minn., special to the Journal says: A tornado last night struck twelve miles northwest of this place, killed seven people, destroyed many buildings and did great damage to crops. The entire family of Joseph Hutchinson, including his wife and four children, were killed, also Peter Juglin. The storm was not wide in extent, but very violent. Seven people are missing and some of them may be killed. The storm was on the border between Southwestern Minnesota and South Dakota.

A Gary, S. D., special to the Journal concerning the Canby tornado, adds Charles Ebal and a laboring man, name unknown, to the list of the dead. Ebal's wife and three children are missing.

MOVEMENTS AT TAMPA.

The Mascotte Expected to Sail for Havana—Rita Sailed for Porto Rico. Fifth Cavalry's Departure.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

TAMPA, FLA., August 15.—It was announced somewhere to-day that the Mascotte would sail for Havana to-night. At the office of the steamship company to-day it was said that the boat was now performing a mail contract between this city and Key West and whenever the department ordered the service extended to Havana the boat would go, but not before. The announcement has caused a flood of inquiry from all over the country from people who are anxious to go to Havana. The order may come before the boat sails to-morrow night.

The Rita sailed for Porto Rico this morning and the Wanderer crossed the bar early on her way to Cuba with supplies for General Gomez and his people.

The Fifth cavalry left to-night for Huntsville. General Snyder left with his headquarters for the same place accompanied by Company F, of the Fifth Maryland which is his bodyguard.

MADRID, August 15.—Duke Almodovar de Rio has received an intimation that the Cuban blockade has been raised and cable communication restored.

Numerous vessels are being prepared in Spanish ports to take provisions to Cuba.

The news of peace was heartily welcomed in the Spanish coast towns, and the families who fled, fearing an attack by Commodore Watson, are now returning.

The Portuegese ministry has resigned and Senor Jose Lucanio has been charged with the task of forming a new cabinet.

GRAVEYARD GHOULS.

Court Martial of an Officer of a Kansas Regiment Charged With Desecrating Graves.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, August 15.—The trial by court martial of Captain L. C. Duncan, of the Twenty-second Kansas regiment, charged with desecrating Confederate graves in Virginia, was resumed at Thoroughfare Gap to-day. The most important witness was Captain George E. Ross, Company I, 22nd Kansas, who on hearing of the report of the grave digging, investigated the matter. When he reached the scene and asked for an officer, he said Duncan stepped out and made a remark to the effect that he was conducting a medical research and wanted to ascertain what the men in the graves had died from. Replying to his questions, the soldiers standing around stated that they were digging up rebels. Witness was indignant at what he saw and took prompt measures to report to headquarters. On cross examination he said that there were about a dozen men in all, some of whom were noncommissioned officers. He did not see Duncan handle any bones or clothes.

Sergeant J. M. Southerd, of the Twenty-second Kansas, saw a party of men opening graves. He identified a button he had obtained from Private Wise of the Twenty-second, who he believed got it from one of the graves. He saw the jaw-bone of the occupant of a grave and also some buttons and parts of epaulets. A sergeant of company H, Third New York regiment, identified Duncan as the officer, who with a party of men, was seen digging in a mound of earth.

It is believed that Don Carlos will wait until the army returns from Cuba before ordering an insurrection, as he hopes the Cuban army will return disconted and ripe for revolution. Carlist agents have been working in Cuba for months past."

TRUTH Will Prevail.

That is why our ads. bring such results. Last week, while trade seemed stagnated at other houses, of business that was really remarkable for the season. We had advertised a line of unmatchable BARGAINS, and the people knew they would find them when they came.

WE HAD A RUSH

When you read a statement made by us, in this or any other space, you can depend upon it being the TRUTH.

OTHER BARGAINS DISPLAYED FOR THIS WEEK

and prices are plainly marked on them. Our buyer will leave for Northern markets in a few days, and will attend to any SPECIAL ORDERS that may be intrusted to us.

NEW CARPETS arriving daily and Special Prices for the month of August.
